NOTE FROM THE ASSISTANT EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Ever wonder what industry in the state pays the highest average hourly wage? Turn to page 25 ...

September is Workforce Development Month in South Carolina, a time when we recognize the abundance of employment opportunities in the state and celebrate the many collaborative efforts that are creating these opportunities and building up a workforce to match them. Plans are in place across the state for job fairs, training, conferences, and other events designed to support South Carolinians at various junctures within their careers: starting out, moving up, or switching paths entirely. A centerpiece of these events, the Workforce Development Symposium, is slated for September 12 at the Columbia Convention Center. There will be panel discussions on critical workforce matters and guest speaking appearances from Governor Henry McMaster and Michael Amiridis, the President of the University of South Carolina.

This month's featured article by Taylor Hendrix looks at the 2023 data from the Occupational Employment and Wage Statistics (OEWS) program. OEWS data provides employment and wage estimates for 22 occupational groups and more than 800 job titles at the national and state level, as well as for sub-geographies like metropolitan statistical areas. LMI considers this data highly useful for analyzing the occupational composition of specific industries and geographic regions. produced these long-term projections by industry and occupation for each of the state's twelve local workforce development areas. Read on to discover important facts about recent employment growth in South Carolina and how much different types of workers earn.

Otherwise, please reach out anytime to lmicustomerservice@dew.sc.gov for your questions on employment and workforce data.

OCCUPATIONAL EMPLOYMENT AND WAGE STATISTICS (OEWS) 2023 DATA RELEASE

By Taylor Hendrix, Workforce Insights Analyst

National Data

The Occupational Employment and Wage Statistics (OEWS) program provides employment and wage estimates for approximately 830 occupations in the nation. Out of the 22 occupational groups, Office and Administrative Support Occupations accounted for the largest amount of workers for 2023, totaling about 18.5 million nationally. Transportation and Material Moving Occupations had 13.8 million workers and Sales and Related Occupations rounded out the top three with 13.4 million workers. The largest occupations within the Office and Administrative Support group were Customer Service Representatives at 2.9 million workers, General Office Clerks at 2.5 million, and Secretaries and Administrative Assistants, except Legal, Medical, and Executive at 1.8 million.

In general, however, the largest occupations were Home Health and Personal Care Aides, Retail Salespersons, and Fast Food and Counter Workers, each with employment of nearly 3.7 million. Eight of the 10 largest occupations had annual wages that rank below the national average for all workers (approximately $65,000), ranging from just over $30,000 for Fast Food and Counter Workers to almost $44,000 for General Office Clerks. Of the 10 largest occupations, only Registered Nurses and General and Operations Managers, at almost $95,000 and $130,000 respectively¹, had earnings above the mean national wage. So, how does South Carolina compare to the national data release? Read further to find out!

South Carolina Data

Occupational Statistics

In 2023, South Carolina reported more than 2.2 million workers. Like the national data, the Office and Administrative Support Occupations group was the largest of all the major sectors, employing 285,910 people and making up almost 13 percent of total state employment. The second largest group was Sales and Related Occupations with 226,140 and 10.2 percent, followed by Food Preparation and Serving Related Occupations with 222,670 and 10 percent, then the Transportation and Material Moving Occupations with 208,150 and 9.4 percent. Rounding out the top five was the Production Occupations group with 189,660 and 8.5 percent. See Exhibit 1 below for more information.

Wages Statistics

The average annual wage for 2023 in our state was $54,250. Less than half of the major occupational groups earn above the state average annual wage, with Management Occupations paying the most at $116,250, followed by Computer and Mathematical Occupations at $93,300, and Healthcare Practitioners and Technical Occupations rounding out the top three at $91,640. The lowest paying occupational groups were Food Preparation and Serving Related Occupations at less than $30,000, and Personal Care and Service Occupations and Building and Grounds Cleaning Maintenance Occupations, both just over $33,000. See Exhibit 3 for more information.

General and Operations Managers had the highest average annual wage at more than $100,000, followed by Registered Nurses at just over $81,000, and Sales Representatives, Wholesale and Manufacturing, except Technical and Scientific Products at more than $75,000. Waiters and Waitresses had the lowest average annual wage at almost $23,000 and Fast Food and Counter Workers had the second lowest average annual wage at $26,000.

In terms of wage distribution, the percentile wage estimate is the value of a wage below which a set percent of workers fall². The highest annual median wage for 2023 lands at $90,310 for General and Operations Managers, while 75 percent of people in that occupation earn at most $134,900. Registered Nurses follow with a median wage of more than $78,000 and almost $88,000 at the 75th percentile. See Exhibit 5 below for more information.

OEWS by SC Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA)

An MSA is defined as a core area with a substantially large population nucleus and adjacent communities³. South Carolina has eight MSAs primarily centered within its borders. These MSAs include: Charleston-North Charleston, Columbia, Florence, Greenville-Anderson-Mauldin, Hilton Head Island-Bluffton-Beaufort, Myrtle Beach-Conway-North Myrtle Beach, Spartanburg, and Sumter. The amount of people employed within these MSAs for 2023 was 1.7 million, ranging from 422,160 in Greenville-Anderson-Mauldin to 35,270 in Sumter. The average annual wage was highest in Charleston-North Charleston at almost $59,000 and lowest in Myrtle Beach-Conway-North Myrtle Beach at just over $46,000. See Exhibit 6 below for more information.

Conclusion

Office and Administrative Support occupations, Sales and Related occupations, and Food Preparation and Serving Related occupations employ approximately one third of all South Carolinians. Only eight of the 22 major occupational groups pay wages above the state's annual average of $54,250, with Management occupations paying the most and Food Preparation and Serving Related occupations paying the least.

The MSAs continue to see increases in population thus leading to increases in employment. Greenville-Anderson-Mauldin, Columbia, and Charleston-North Charleston, the three most employed areas, comprise 68.5 percent, or 1,178,770, of the total.

South Carolina has seen significant growth in employment from 2022 to 2023. There were more than 2.15 million people employed in 2022, and that number increased 3.3 percent to 2.22 million in 2023, a clear indication of the rapid economic development taking place in our state. OEWS data is a valuable tool for understanding and responding to changes in the labor market such as these.

SOUTH CAROLINA’S EMPLOYMENT SITUATION (JULY 2024)

Household Survey¹ (Local Area Unemployment Statistics)

Nationally, there is a monthly Current Population Survey of about 60,000 households conducted by the Census Bureau for the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) to determine employment status of the civilian population. This information, along with other inputs, are used by DEW to operate the Local Area Unemployment Statistics program, which estimates the number of individuals employed and those not employed, but actively seeking employment for statewide and a variety of substate geographies.

EMPLOYMENT (SEASONALLY ADJUSTED³)

- The seasonally adjusted number of South Carolina workers increased to 2,415,142.
- That is an increase of 4,983 people over the June 2024 estimate.
- That is an increase of 27,249 people over the July 2023 estimate.

SEASONALLY ADJUSTED: Seasonal adjustment removes the effects of events that follow a regular pattern each year (i.e. tourist-related hiring and school closings in the summer). These adjustments make it easier to observe the cyclical and other nonseasonal movements in data over time.

UNEMPLOYMENT (SEASONALLY ADJUSTED³)

- The estimate of unemployed people increased to 97,779.
- That is a significant increase of 8,061 people from June's estimate and a significant increase of 28,232 from the July 2023 estimate.
- The state's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate increased from 3.6 percent to 3.9 percent. The national unemployment rate increased to 4.3 percent, according to the Current Population Survey.

UNEMPLOYMENT RATE

LABOR FORCE:

- The state's estimated labor force (people working plus unemployed people looking for work) increased to 2,512,921 while the labor force participation rate increased to 57.5 percent.
- That is an increase of 13,044 people over the June 2024 estimate.
- That is a significant increase of 55,481 individuals over the July 2023 estimate.

SEASONALLY ADJUSTED: Seasonal adjustment removes the effects of events that follow a regular pattern each year (i.e. tourist-related hiring and school closings in the summer). These adjustments make it easier to observe the cyclical and other nonseasonal movements in data over time.

Employer Survey² (Current Employment Statistics)

BLS conducts a monthly Current Employment Statistics survey of approximately 119,000 businesses and government agencies which yields national estimates of nonagricultural wage and salary employment, hours, and earnings by industry. These data are processed by DEW to generate comparable data for the state and its metropolitan statistical areas.

NONAGRICULTURAL EMPLOYMENT BY INDUSTRY (SEASONALLY ADJUSTED³)

The monthly survey of businesses in South Carolina marked an estimated increase of 8,400 nonfarm payroll jobs over the month to a level of 2,390,800.

TECHNICAL NOTES

1. Household Survey: Nationally, there is a monthly Current Population Survey of about 60,000 households conducted by the Census Bureau for the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) to determine employment status of the civilian population. This information, along with other inputs, is used by DEW to operate the Local Area Unemployment Statistics program, which estimates the number of individuals employed and those not employed, but actively seeking employment for statewide and a variety of sub-state geographies.
2. Employer Survey: BLS conducts a monthly Current Employment Statistics survey of about 44,000 employers which yields national estimates of nonagricultural wage and salary employment, hours, and earnings by industry. This data is processed by DEW to generate comparable data for the state and its metropolitan statistical areas.
3. Seasonally Adjusted: Seasonal adjustment removes the effects of events that follow a regular pattern each year (i.e. tourist-related hiring and school closings in the summer). These adjustments make it easier to observe the cyclical and other nonseasonal movements in data over time.
4. Not Seasonally Adjusted: Effects of regular or seasonal patterns have not been removed from this data.

CURRENT EMPLOYMENT STATISTICS (CES)	LOCAL AREA UNEMPLOYMENT STATISTICS (LAUS)
Data is published by Industry	Data is published by County
Counts Jobs	Counts People
Utilizes an Establishment Survey	The Current Population Survey (CPS), which is a Household Survey , is used to calculate LAUS
