

Shabana Mohan - 34

By the time a patient comes in with urological symptoms, their quality of life has already been negatively impacted, and they need my help to “return to normal.”

My first goal is to gather detailed information through their medical history, physical exams, and any other tests that may shed light on the root cause of the issue. Due to the complexity of a patient's condition, a complete resolution of symptoms is not always possible. What I can dependably provide, however, is my kind attention, a clear treatment plan, supportive advice, and a healthy dose of compassion.
